THE NATIONAL GAME.

The Goldie Benefit-Matuals of 1870 vs. The Atlantics of 1870-Defeat of the New Yorkers by a Score of 15 to 3. About twenty-five hin ared persons assembled on the Union grounds, Williams at yesterday after-noon, to witness the match between the Mutnais and Atlanties, as they existed last sea. The game was gotten up exclusively by Mr. Brodie, the edicient and energetic reporter of Wilkes' Spire, for the beneat of the family of the late John Goldie, who was at one time the baseman for the Mutuais, after arst

.. waich he filled the admirably for the Unions, of That the affair was a success is shown concusively by the fact that to-day the treasurer of the fund will have to perform the agreeable task of senting to the widow and orphans the snug little sum of $1,077, the amount taken in at the gate.

It was announced that at the conclusion of the ball match a game of Lacrosse would be played by the members of the Knickerbocker and Manhatian Clubs, but, for some reason as yet unexpiained, nothing of the kind was done, although the majority of the assemblage waited patiently for upwards of mediocre, although at times there was shown by both sides some really line play. Had the Mutuals played as well as did their opponents it would bave been a game to remember, but as it was they, or at least two or three of them, yed in a manner that might possibly be considered half way decent if they belonged to some third ensable to players of their regulation and standing in the profession. For instance, the manner inwhich Charlie Mills filled his position behind the but the short time he played there was the worst that has been seen on the Union grounds for a long while. He caught for Wosters three innings, and for Martin one, during which time he had charged to min cleven errors, ten of which gave players their bases. Next on the list comes Swandell, who made four errors, each of which was of a players their bases. Next on the list comes Swandell, who made four errors, each of which was of a serious nature. But perhaps they will do better the next game they play.

The play of the Atlantics, when compared to that of the Mutes, was almost perfection. Of the seven errors committed by them five are chargeable to Ferguson, who was in a great measure excusable owing to a severe injury to his right hand which he received early in the game. Cummings, although at times a little wiid in his delivery, was nevertheless very effective, as the total base hits by the Mutuals attests. Start was as efficient as ever at first base, while Pike and Boyd filled their respective positions most admirably. "Bad Dicky" played at short stop in real old-time thyle, while chapman, Hall and McDonald never filled their respective positions more to their own credit and the credit of the old club than upon this occasion. Chapman was indeed particularly brithant in left field, where he captured three files in the highest style of the art.

We have said that some of the Mutuals played most shamefully. This is true; but we should also have said that theres of them deported themselves quite differently. Among those latter were Weiters, who never tried harder in all his life to win a game than he did the few lamings he pitched yesterday; E. Mills, who filled his old position at first base as he only can fill it; Hatfield at short stop; Nelson at third, who, by the way, is deserving of more than special mention for the amount of growing he did not do; Martin, who pitched throughout the greater portion of the game; Eggler, who caught for him most admirably, and Patterson, who played well his old positions well; not to perfection, all of them, but nevertheless well. Had C. Mills and Swandeil done haif as much the game would have been a much better one. The following is the score:—

Mer. R.L. T. P.A.F. Player. R. 100, 8. 2 3 3 1 1 0 Hatfield, 8. 8. 1 , 35... 1 1 1 1 2 Eggler, c. 0 , 1b... 4 2 2 10 0 1 Patterson, f. f. 0 100, c. 2 3 4 5 0 5 E. Mills, b. 0 mings, p. 0 0 0 0 1 0 C. Mills, c. f. 0 2 5... 1 1 1 4 6 0 Swandel, 2b. c. f. 0 14. 21. Bit. 5th. 6th. 7th. 8th. 9th.
